GERMANS WITHDRAWING IN NAPLES SECTOR

British Eighth Army Drives Up East Coast Within 22 Miles of Foggia Airport Base

Lt. General Mark W. Clark's American Forces Smash Ten-Mile Deep Salient Into Mountains Near Vital Southern Italian City

MONTGOMERY STILL IN CONTACT WITH ENEMY

By NOLAND NORGAAARD

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, Sept. 27.—(P)—Smashing a 10-mile deep salient into the mountains, Americans of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army have captured the town of Cassano, 50 miles due east of Naples, Allied headquarters announced today.

As a result, the Germans began a withdrawal in that sector east of Naples on the flank of their positions around the broad bay and port, and offered rearguard opposition.

Simultaneously, the British Eighth Army of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery drove rapidly up the east coast to within 22 miles of the airport center of Foggia, capturing the Adriatic towns of Cerignola and Margherita di Savoia, the latter a large salt manufacturing center.

The British, after crossing the Ofanto river, which empties into the Gulf of Manfredonia, were meeting only the slightest resistance and were sweeping along on straight roads across flat, open country which extends to 30 miles beyond Foggia.

(A Cairo broadcast, recorded by Reuters, said the British were within 18 miles of Foggia, an air base with 12 satellite fields which would give Allied air forces a great springboard for attacks on all parts of the Balkans and much of Germany's southeastern domain.

In capturing Cassano, the Americans drove to a point 18 miles northeast of Salerno and only 10 miles southeast of Avellino, which with Benevento, forms two of the main hubs of German communications in the area east of Naples. Benevento is 15 miles north of Avellino.

The troops of Gen. Clark also plunged up the Sele river, farther to the east, for a gain of four and a half miles and captured Calabritto, a mountain community 27 miles east of Salerno. The two is just north of Valva, whose capture was announced yesterday.

In the central mountain sector, the British also were marking up steady progress and extended their lines beyond Muro, 18 miles northwest of Potenza and 38 miles directly east of Salerno.

The Allied lines thus ran almost straight across Italy in a northeasterly direction, with only a slight bow in the middle.

The communiqué confirmed field dispatches which reported yesterday that the Eighth Army on the east coast had crossed the Ofanto river.

At the center of the line across the peninsula, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Eighth Army troops were announced as "still in contact with the enemy just north of Atella," capture of which was disclosed yesterday.

For the first time in many weeks, the German line completely stilled the great Allied air offensive against the German enemy in Italy.

In sweeping to within 22 miles from Foggia, the British Eighth Army has now deployed on the southern stretches of the sea-level plain that stretches 30 miles beyond Foggia.

Inland near the center of the peninsula other British forces swept through Spinazzola and Atella, and Fifth Army troops, smashing out eastward from Salerno. (Turn to Page Seven)

"Victory Fleet Day" Is Being Observed

Washington, Sept. 27.—(P)—More than a million American workers in 70 shipyards and 350 factories marked "Victory Fleet Day" with a pledge today of even greater production efforts and more war bond purchases.

Since the first Liberty ship, the Patrick Henry, was launched just two years ago, some 2,100 merchant vessels have gone down the ways in what President Roosevelt termed "the world's most outstanding accomplishment in ship building." About five are launched every day.

The anniversary observance is being carried out without any let-up in the production pace.

One of the first local pilots to participate in bombing missions over Sicily and Sardinia and a member of the initial Rome bombing mission, Lt. James I. Miller, is back in the United States, enjoying a furlough with his family at Rogers Mills.

Lt. Miller is a B-25 Mitchell bomber pilot and has been cited on several occasions in dispatches from the Mediterranean area. Having completed his required 50 bombing missions, he is now awaiting further assignment, which will likely be in this country for a time.

He is the son of Mrs. George H. Miller, of The Willows, and popular in many circles since his early school days.

Like Lt. Lloyd Porter, with whom he has been almost constantly since going overseas about a year ago, the young flying officer has already started a round of speaking engagements, addressing Rotarians at their weekly luncheon-meeting at the YWCA at noon today.

Jap Victims—War Bonds Will Help!

Axis Partners Observe Third Anniversary

London, Sept. 27.—(P)—The two surviving Axis partners—Germany and Japan—observed the third anniversary of the signing of the tripartite pact today by putting on a show of unconcern over Italy's capitulation, but with a warning to satellite powers not to follow the Italian lead.

In the warning addressed to those who believe that "one war partner can simply step out of the war car if it no longer likes the drive," the newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter, Nazi party organ, said: "Any nation which today believes it is able to steer its small national or private ship safe and sound through the waves of world tempest will have to pay for it severely one day."

Otherwise, both Tokyo and Berlin propagandists said that Italy never really amounted to anything, but at the same time Japan extended recognition to the remnant of Benito Mussolini's Fascist regime.

Sugar Grove Has Memorial For Soldier

Miss Mary Hamilton, at Sugar Grove, has been notified of the death of her nephew, Sgt. Edward Hamilton, in an airplane accident somewhere in Europe.

Sergeant Hamilton, who was an aviation radio man, left this country early this month.

He was born in Sugar Grove and lived there until after completing his high school education, and has since made his home in Erie, Ohio. Survivors are his wife and mother, Mrs. Grete Hamilton, of Erie; his father, Lloyd Hamilton, Watts Flats, and a brother, Paul, serving in the Marines in the Pacific.

A brief memorial was held at the morning service of the Presbyterian church, Sugar Grove, of which he was a member, Sunday, by Rev. Carl Perrin. Organizations of the church placed flowers in the church for the service in his memory.

Court Holds Service For Late Justice

Memorial For Judge Parker Is Held at Opening Session in Pittsburgh

IS ONLY SEAT VACANT

Pittsburgh, Sept. 27.—(P)—Memorial services for the late Justice William M. Parker of Oil City, with Chief Justice George W. Maxey as chief speaker, today opened the fall session of the state supreme court in western Pennsylvania.

"This court has lost a distinguished member and the commonwealth has lost a faithful servant," Chief Justice Maxey said. "He possessed the qualities of integrity, impartiality, intelligence, and independence. The law was his only master. Duty was always his guide."

Attorney Judson D. Trax, of Oil City, law partner of Justice Parker for 30 years, reviewed Parker's life.

Edmund C. Breene and John L. Nesbitt, both of Oil City, also eulogized the late justice, whose seat was the only one vacant on the bench.

The chief justice announced that the court's recent mandate in the case of Judge J. Hilary Keenan of Westmoreland county "has been carried out and on the payment of cost, (by Keenan) the court is satisfied."

Judge Keenan on July 13 had been ordered by the high court to dispose of 28 cases which, it (Turn to Page Two)

Rep. Van Zandt To Enter The Service

Harrisburg, Sept. 27.—(P)—Republican and Democratic candidates for representative in congress from the 23rd congressional district, to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Rep. James E. Van Zandt, of Altoona, will be selected this week by party leaders.

Van Zandt resigned to enter the navy and his successor will be chosen in a special election on Nov. 2, in conjunction with the general election.

Governor Martin issued a writ Saturday calling the election after the resignation of Van Zandt, a Republican, became effective Friday at midnight.

Republican conferees from Blair, Centre and Clearfield counties will meet in the Penn-Auto Hotel, Altoona, on Friday, Oct. 1, at the call of State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor, to name the GOP nominee.

The Democratic state committee will be called to a meeting here late this week to act on district leaders' endorsement of Miss Edna Marsden, Clearfield county treasurer, as the Democratic nominee.

WORLD POLICE FORCE TALK IS DISCOUNTED

View Expressed That Peace-Enforcing Organization From United Nations Would Be Unwieldy

OFFER COUNTER PLAN

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Sept. 27.—(P)—There is a growing disposition among top policy-making officials here to discount entirely all talk of a world police force to maintain peace after this war.

In diplomatic as well as military quarters the view is frequently expressed that a peace-enforcing organization made up from the military and naval services of the United Nations would be unwieldy and impractical.

The counter-proposal to which this government is understood to be giving most serious consideration is that each of the United Nations, but particularly the United States, Britain, Russia, and China, should keep in service land, sea and air forces sufficient to discourage any acts of aggression.

This is the principle which underlay Secretary Hull's statement, in his speech on foreign policy earlier this month, that maintenance of peace must be based on the willingness of cooperating nations to use force if necessary.

Some officials say that in much talk of the postwar world the idea of a police force is used loosely to mean any employment of force to localize international disputes and avoid another general conflict. But in many instances the advocates of the idea definitely contemplated the organization of truly international power to which all of the United Nations would contribute men and materials.

Both diplomatic and military officials claim this would not work because of the innumerable practical difficulties such as differences in language, traditions, and operational procedures of the world's existing armies and navies. Furthermore they question the wisdom of international commitments made on such a basis.

According to the principle broadly stated by Hull, each nation participating in such future world organization for peace, whether based on a system of alliances, a world court or a league, would support peace forcefully in two ways: By maintaining an army and navy able to cope with any predictable outbreak and by always being willing to use those forces when necessary.

Help Wanted Advertisement Not Prohibited

Philadelphia, Sept. 27.—(P)—"Help wanted" advertisements have not been prohibited and the United States Employment Service has not assumed arbitrary control of the hiring of skilled workers, Frank L. McNamee, regional director of the War Manpower Commission, said in a statement today.

He referred to the regional employment stabilization order, effective September 17, requiring referral by the employment service as a condition to the hiring of workers in 149 critical occupations.

"No regulation of the War Manpower Commission in this region bars newspaper advertisements for skilled or any other help," McNamee said. "The regional stabilization plan does require that persons possessing any of the 149 critical skills secure referral to the war job they want by or with the (Turn to Page Seven)

SERVICEMEN'S WIVES TO GET FREE CARE

Harrisburg, Sept. 27.—(P)—Free maternity care for servicemen's wives in Pennsylvania is expected by the State Department of Health to go into operation this week.

Dr. A. H. Stewart, health secretary, said last night some 6,000 applications are now on file but approval will be on the basis of "first come, first served."

The program, which has Washington approval, will be financed from a $136,000 fund allocated to the state by the Federal Children's Bureau last week.

"Big Business" Man Takes No. 2 Post in State Department

Washington, Sept. 27.—(P)—Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., the man who pumped martial lifeblood into Russia during the grimest phases of her struggle with the Germans, moved into the No. 2 spot at the state department today amid congressional predictions that harmony has been restored on this country's diplomatic front.

President Roosevelt's appointment of the 42-year-old lend-lease administrator as undersecretary of state, and his simultaneous reshuffling of the foreign economic and relief setups, were viewed on Capitol Hill as presaging a firmer approach to difficult international parleys ahead.

And equally important, from the standpoint of the forthcoming tripartite talks among Britain, Russia and the United States, his selection is almost bound to be welcomed in Moscow, where he is known as the man who dispatched arms, food and other lend-lease supplies for the Soviet troops.

Coupled with the expected appointment of W. Averell Harriman, lend-lease expediter in London, as the new United States ambassador to Russia, the Stettinius choice is regarded as likely to offset any Soviet disappointment over the retirement of Sumner Welles, former undersecretary.

Welles had been looked on by the Russians as one of their staunchest friends in the state department. His resignation was announced with "sincere regret" by President Roosevelt in a statement which gave Mrs. Welles' health as the reason. There "had been reports for some time of fundamental differences between the undersecretary and Secretary Hull."

It is probable that he and Harriman will accompany Secretary Hull to Moscow next month for a meeting with the British and Russian foreign ministers, preliminary to a Roosevelt-Stalin-Churchill conference.

In further preparation for important developments in foreign economic and relief fields, the president announced these moves:

The appointment of former Governor Herbert H. Lehman of New York as special presidential assistant to complete plans for next month's organization meeting of the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration. Lehman has been mentioned as a likely director general for this international agency.

Milk Boosting Orders Go To Washington

Harrisburg, Sept. 27.—(P)—Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission orders to boost wholesale and retail milk prices in most of the state on Oct. 1 went to Washington today to be reconciled by federal agencies with a new $60,000,000 subsidy program for milk producers.

The commission orders, subject to Office of Price Administration approval, will increase retail prices two and three cents a quart and wholesale payments 90 cents and more per hundred pounds of class one fluid milk (the price paid farmers) in 11 milk marketing areas.

The subsidy program, announced by the War Food Administration in Washington, provides for payments of from 25 to 50 cents a hundredweight to farmers from Oct. 1 to the end of the year. The plan, the WFA announced, is designed to prevent hoists in milk prices to consumers.

Commission Chairman John M. McKee, said copies of the orders are going to the WFA, the OPA and the Office of Economic Stabilization.

Opposition to subsidies for dairy-men came last week from both Agriculture Secretary Miles Horst and Victor Houston, of Allentown, president of the Pennsylvania Dairywomen's Association. Houston said "Subsidies will not provide relief for the decreasing milk production."

RWLB Issues Decision In Irvine Dispute

Seniority Rights in Selection of Preferred Shifts Granted 800 Workers

ARE TO BE ROTATED

The information division of the Regional War Labor Board No. 3 of Philadelphia has issued an order as a result of hearings held at the plant of National Forge and Ordnance Company, Irvine, some weeks ago. The hearing was held after a dispute over the arrangement of shifts in the plant at Irvine.

Seniority rights in the selection of preferred shifts have been granted the 800 production workers employed at the National Forge and Ordnance Company's plant at Irvine.

In the same order issued in a dispute between the company and the National Forge and Ordnance Co. grievance committee, the board provided for two shift rotations a year while the plant is operating on a six-day work-week basis, and a single shift rotation a year when the plant operates on a five-day work-week basis.

The shift rotations are to be made in June and July and in January and February, the board further directed.

Seniority as provided in the order shall be based upon length of service.

The dispute arose between the present day shift employees and those engaged in the second and third shifts.

The company contended that the prevailing industry practice called for stationary shifts. Upon the company's refusal to accede to the second and third shift committee's request, a work stoppage occurred at the plant on June 18, involving approximately 85 per cent of the second and third shift workers in the machining department.

Hearings in the dispute were held before Sidney Friedman, RWLB hearing officer, August 4. The RWLB's decision was based on Friedman's recommendations.

The board order states:

1. Men with greatest seniority within a department shall have the right to select preferred shifts to the extent that jobs they are able to perform are available on the preferred shifts.

2. Where possible, machines whose operators require comparable skill shall be grouped together within a department for purposes (Turn to Page Two)

Scuttling Report Is Not Confirmed

London, Sept. 27.—(P)—A Reuters dispatch from Stockholm said today that rebellious crews sabotaged three German capital ships, the Tirpitz, Scharnhorst and Luetzow, as they lay at anchor in Alten Fjord in northern Norway, following news of the surrender of the Italian fleet.

The dispatch, which carried no further details, was not confirmed, but it was known that the ships have been held in Norwegian waters and Norwegian sources in London said that all three of the vessels, as well as the pocket battleship Admiral Scheer took part in the Italian fleet.

NAZIS STILL REELING WEST IN RETREAT

Glittering Domes of Kiev, Ancient Holy City of Russia, Now Under Siege Guns

MANY ENEMIES SLAIN

By the Associated Press

London, Sept. 27.—Red army units were battling for footholds across the broad Dnieper river today as the Germans reeled westward in retreat along a smoking front which a Soviet communiqué said extended from the Kuban bridgehead 750 miles northward to the war-ravaged city of Smolensk.

The glittering domes of Kiev, ancient Holy City of Russia, lay under Soviet siege guns on the eastern bank of the Dnieper in the Polish frontier 100 miles beyond, while at least a half-dozen other key towns along the winding river appeared ripe to fall into the hands of the hard-driving Red army as Nazi resistance continued to crumble.

The Russian communiqué told of advances which brought Soviet forces abreast of the Dnieper in the vicinity of Dnepropetrovsk, industrial center at the easternmost bend of the river; in the Kremenchuk sector 100 miles northwest; to the south Pereval, 100 miles southeast of Kiev, and in the Kiev area itself.

More than 5,000 Germans were killed in the day's fighting, the Russians said, declaring many of the enemy were drowned as they were driven into the Dnieper. There were indications that in some sectors the German retreat was developing into a rout and the communiqué told of huge stores of war material and food which had been abandoned.

Prize in the present drive was the city of Kiev, held by the Germans since the early days of the war, and it seemed probable that Russian units on the flanks which were already on the eastern bank would attempt to smash their way across in an encircling movement.

The Russians said the Germans had already begun to withdraw from the city, third largest in Russia.

Prisoners Of War Figure In Train Wreck

Charlottesville, Va., Sept. 27.—(P)—Three hundred German prisoners of war, delayed at nearby Shadwell for nine hours when the train on which they were being transported wrecked and killed the fireman and engineer, were loaded into another train last night for the remainder of their trip to an inland prison camp.

The dead were Jake Pritchett, of Charlottesville, fireman, who was killed outright, and Charles Dillard, also of Charlottesville, who died later at the University of Virginia Hospital.

Six enlisted men of the military guard and a brakeman, Carrard Plagman, 11, of Richmond, Va., were under treatment. Two conductors also were hurt.

Two injured Germans were taken away in an ambulance under guard to the new Woodrow Wilson General Hospital being used by the army at Staunton, Va.

Given food by the Red Cross, the German prisoners offered no trouble during the time the train was stalled at the scene of the wreck, the cause of which had not been announced by railroad officials.

The train, composed of 11 cars, piled up at a point where new track was being installed, and the wreckage blocked the single-line right-of-way.

Liquor Flowed Free and Potent Causing Cops to Garner Many

Beer may be scarce and hard to get, whiskey may be near the ration point, but evidently the darned stuff is still plenty potent. Over the weekend Old John Barleycorn rose up in his night and smote a group of the boys fore and aft. The coppers opened their rooming house in the police headquarters, dusted off the 'welcome' mat and took the brethren in. At one time another the cells reeked with odors of a varied assortment of drinkables and snores of bearded sleepers floated on the midnight air. Magistrate Greenlund had a regular Old Home Day as the boys greeted him. There was nothing exclusive about the assortment of jags, they came from all sections of the city and all heard the same admonition from the magistrate: "Go forth and sin."

no more, but before you depart leave the usual fine and costs." One fellow left his wife and three children stranded at the railroad station while he took on a few. So well did he enjoy himself that he forgot his wife and little brood, until gathered into the fold of the police. The Salvation Army gave succor to the fellow's family and the probation officer of the county will take a look into the affairs of the family to see how the papa normally behaves.

Another fellow did a high dive down some steps and landed on his head. They do say a "drunk won't get hurt" but that's all wrong. He did. So he was lugged off to the hospital where he had seven stitches taken in his head and they brought back to rest his aching head on the soft steel slats of a cell. In addition to the fine and costs he is faced with a hospital bill, a doctor's bill and the price of a ride in a shiny ambulance.

It was a busy weekend and the door of one of the main chain stores was found open, the manager couldn't be located and so the coppers had to stand guard over the rationed foods.

One small boy on a bicycle had the bad luck to ride out in front of a car on Conewango avenue. He was knocked off his wheel but escaped injury, getting only a few bruises.

And these few things, together with escorting money to banks, mail to trains, belated women workers to their homes, finding garage owners so folks could get their cars out of the garages and other little duties made a weekend pass quickly.

Forty miles to the south of the city, between Dnepropetrovsk and Zaporozhe, also menaced by the Russian advance, lie the ruins of the $110,000,000 dam and hydroelectric plant blown up by the Russians in their retreat in the early days of the war.

With German resistance smashed on the three-south-central fronts—Kiev, Kremenchug and Dnepropetrovsk—other Soviet forces under General Vassily Sokolovsky were battering their way toward the river near Gomel. In some sectors they were near the vital main lateral Leningrad-Stetsk-Kiev railway line, capture of which would threaten the Nazi communications.

In the Smolensk area the Russians swept forward six miles toward Vitebsk on the edge of White Russia, west and slightly north of Smolensk, fall of which was announced Saturday. The district center of Kaplya was among the 200 villages taken in the advance.

Back to the south the Russians were busily engaged in a campaign to smash the Nazis' tenuous hold on the Kuban bridgehead across the narrow straight separating Crimea from the Caucasus. The communiqué said that Soviet units had driven the Germans from four more villages.

The firemen from mthe Central station had two runs with the emergency truck on Saturday. The first was to the plant of the United Refinery where a flash in a catch basin caused a small fire which was extinguished with no loss. One of the hunters remarked this morning that he would bet "that 1500 shots were fired while he was hunting there. There were plenty of ducks and most of the hunters were successful in their quest. From reports it is a good thing the hunters got their ducks last Saturday as Ernie Springer of the Central Fire Station has been engaged in putting blow out patches on his hip boots and oiling his blunderbuss all last week and tomorrow he will be forth and return with a couple of big moving vans filled with ducks.

PTA Meeting Planned With Fine Program

Youngsville, Sept. 24—Youngs-Parent-Teacher Association will meet at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, September 28, with a good program, which will be followed by a reception for Youngsville teachers, with refreshments served.

GARDEN CLUB

Brokenstraw Garden Club met Wednesday evening, September 22, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Briggs on High street. Mrs. C. A. Solberg, the president, presided at the business session. There was some discussion concerning the Mead memorial monument, which now needs attention, and concerning the flower boxes in town. It is hoped the club will have better success next year with these boxes and that they may add something to the beauty of the town.

The response to the roll call was the naming of various dahlias. Their recognition, the characteristics and the culture of dahlias was very interesting presented by Aubrey Briggs, who illustrated many kinds of dahlias by examples from his beautiful dahlia garden. Mr. Briggs also showed a number of reels of technicolor motion pictures from some of the national parks of the west which he and Mrs. Briggs have visited. Death Valley Park was one of these, in which much of the beauty was found in the mountains and brilliantly-colored rock formations.

There was a good attendance at the meeting. Two new members were received. Very nice refreshments were served by the hosts from a buffet table at which Mrs. Mertie Kay poured. A number of beautiful bouquets of dahlias were used in decoration of the home.

The October meeting will consider the storing of roots and veg-

Red Cross To Have Course In Nutrition

Another nutrition course, sponsored by the Warren County Red Cross, is being organized under the direction of Mrs. W. F. Clinger and Mrs. H. P. Stone.

The course will begin October 12th and run for 10 weeks with meetings being held at the YWCA every Tuesday from 1:30 to 3:30. Miss Arlene M. Schnure, who conducted the courses last year, has again been secured to conduct these new classes.

The local office of the Red Cross has announced that it has been necessary to limit enrollment to twenty-five persons in order that all may receive adequate instruction and supervision. If more than 25 enroll an effort will be made to conduct additional classes at a later date but only 25 can be admitted to the course which opens October 12th.

Women of the community who are interested in the subject are asked to call at the Red Cross office (2926) and enroll by phone or they may drop in and register if more convenient. Registrations will be accepted tomorrow and the first 25 to register will constitute this new class.

Mrs. George Sevok, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brazee, is reported as getting along as well as could be expected at the Millard-Fillmore hospital of Buffalo, where she underwent an operation Monday.

Miss Helen Vaughn, who has been for the past two weeks a guest of Dr. and Mrs. Knapp, is leaving this Friday evening for Warm Springs, Ga., where she holds a position at the Warm Springs Foundation.

Red Cross Chapter Finding It Increasingly Difficult To Secure Blood Bank Donors

Over 480 pints of blood were donated to the Blood Bank when the Mobile Unit from Buffalo spent three days in Warren county last week. This included a two-day visit to Warren and a day spent in Sheffield.

The local chapter of the American Red Cross is finding it increasingly difficult to get volunteer donors and again is issuing an appeal for new volunteers. Volunteers may secure application blanks at any of Warren's drug stores or they may enroll at Red Cross Headquarters, 404 Market street.

A member of the blood donor committee issued some interesting figures this morning showing how difficult it is to secure a full complement of donors for the two-day visit of the Mobile Unit each month. These figures show that to secure 315 pints of blood 549 donors were contacted. On the first day 17 persons failed to keep their appointment and only two of these sent substitutes. On Tuesday six persons did not appear at all, eight cancelled too late to secure substitutes and 29 persons were rejected over the two-day period. Ten persons who did not have definite appointments came in to make donations, which helped take care of part of the number who failed to appear. But, of the 375 persons scheduled for the two-day visit, there were 41 who did not put in an appearance.

On the list of donors who were called in September there were 73 names that had to be put in a "discard" group. Ten of these persons are in the armed services. 34 were ill or unable to make an appointment. 27 had moved from town and two were minors who had not filled in the special minor's release. Ninety persons who were called for September donations stated they would come in October or later. All new donors have been contacted and most of those who donated in May were called to donate last week and about 20 June donors also donated again.

Schedules for the visit of the Blood Bank to Warren on October 18th and 19th will be made up this week. It will be necessary to call those who donated in June and perhaps a few who made donations in July. Although it is perfectly safe and proper for a person to make a donation every third month, some donate every other month, the committee is endeavoring to call persons just three times a year, or every fourth month. But, unless new volunteers are added to the list of donors, they will not be able to maintain this schedule.

Only recently the War Department asked the National Red Cross to stimulate the interest in Blood Bank donations throughout the country and the local chapter, in turn, has been appealed to to get additional donors. It is no secret that our casualties in battle are increasing more numerous each day and the demand for blood plasma is increasing by the hour. And with such miraculous cures being effected with the use of this plasma and a donation being such a simple yet direct aid to the war effort, it is hoped that more persons will feel it is directly up to each and every one to make an individual effort to make a donation if physically possible.

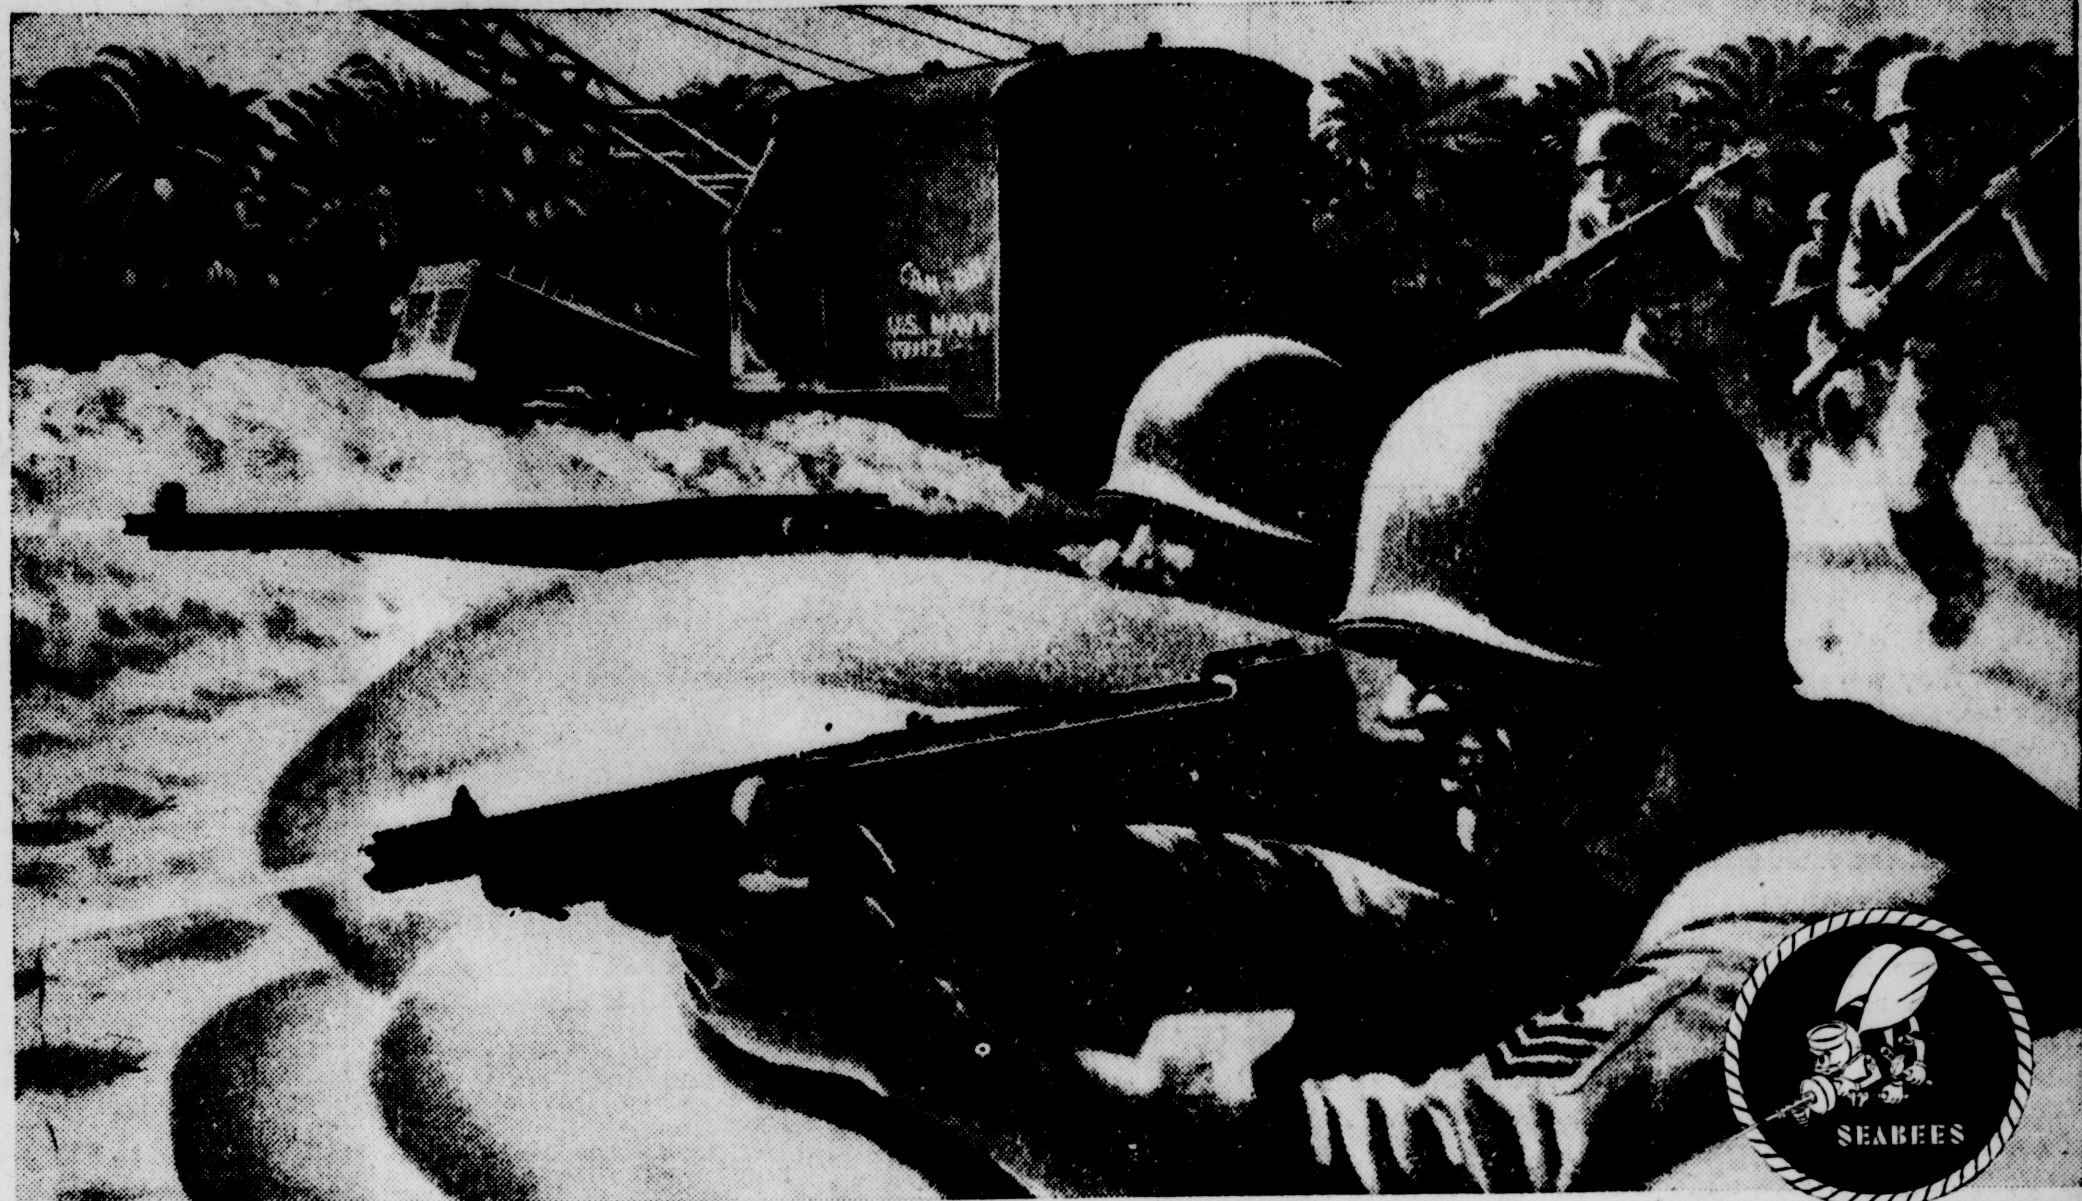

Three charter members of the Erie Rotary Club were present for the 30th anniversary luncheon meeting held Wednesday noon. They are: W. Pitt Gifford, David W. Harper and Dr. James Kelsey. The district governor, Allen Scilly, of Sheffield, was a special guest.

... AND OTHER CONSTRUCTION TRADES

U. S. ARMY CORPS of Engineers offers similar opportunities to construction men. For details go to any Army Recruiting Station.

THIS IS A CALL to trained American workers, the most skilled, the most resourceful in the world—a call to men who want to pit their skill against the Nazis and Japs, to men who will build as well as fight to keep America free.

To keep our soldiers, sailors and marines winning, we need drydocks for our warships, airfields for our planes, bases of every kind. Building those bases, making them fightable and keeping them fighting—that is the job of the SEABEES, the Navy's Construction Battalions. That is the job they want YOU to help them do.

You don't need military experience to make the grade in the SEABEES. If you know your trade, Navy training soon adapts your civilian skill to Navy requirements. In a few short weeks you and your fellow SEABEES become a first-class fighting unit as well as a construction unit.

Ratings and Pay

Because SEABEES are specialists, you have the opportunity to qualify for a SEABEE construction job in your own trade and for the higher rating and pay that go with it. Depending on your age and ability, you may win a rating as high as Chief Petty Officer.

CONSTRUCTION MEN

New plan of voluntary induction opens ranks to men 18-38. Men 17 and 38-50 may join by voluntary enlistment. Men who prove ability win advanced ratings.

Navy pay is not high by civilian standards. But remember, it is only part of your Navy income—because all your living expenses are paid. Comfortable quarters, three rationed meals a day, the finest medical and dental care, $133 worth of uniforms—all these are free to SEABEES.

In addition to your pay and keep, you can qualify for a number of "extras"—for instance, you get a 20% increase in your base pay for service overseas. And SEABEES are eligible for full government dependents' and quarters' allowances.

New Volunteer Plan for Men 18 to 38

If you are between 18 and 38 and have not been called for induction, you join the SEABEES through the new plan known as Voluntary Induction. First, you go to the nearest Navy Recruiting Station, take the Navy "physical" and have an interview on your experience in your trade. If accepted, you will be given a letter to your draft board. After you are cleared by the board, inducted and sworn into the Navy, you will be assigned to the SEABEE job for which you qualify, together with its appropriate rating and pay.

Remember, you are not obligated in any way until you are cleared for voluntary induction by your draft board. By this time you are already assured of your trade job in the SEABEES.

If you are 17 or between 38 and 50, you can join the SEABEES by voluntary enlistment. Merely apply at any Navy Recruiting Station.

Free Book Gives Full Details

If you are experienced in one of the trades listed at left, decide now to put that experience to work where it will be of greatest service to your country and to yourself. Enlist your skill for victory by joining the Navy SEABEES!

Call at, write or phone the nearest Navy Recruiting Station today and ask for your free copy of the new book "Build and Fight with the SEABEES." It gives full details about this new, history-making branch of Navy service. No obligation.

Will Purchase Equipment For Local Hospital

Directors of the Warren General Hospital, holding their September meeting at the hospital, voted their approval of purchase of new equipment for the semi-private rooms in the maternity ward, a need long felt by those in charge of this department.

In addition, members resurveyed the nursing situation at the institution and expressed their great appreciation of the professional service being given and the immeasurable assistance being lent by the Nurses' Aides.

Statistics presented to the board showed the following figures for the month ended: Major surgery performed in 35 cases, minor surgery in 111 cases, 78 medical patients treated and birth totaling 42.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, Warren Times-Mirror, Warren, Pa.

Dear Sir: For some time I have noticed that the nurses of this war are apparently being pushed into the background while the Waves and Wacs are taking the "front seat" so to speak.

were given with no mention of nurses. Don't you think it's about time the civilian people wake up to the fact that the R. N.s of our country have given their lives and the best of their professional ability not only in this war, but in all the wars before?

Isn't it time that a few of the newsreels and shorts of our theatres show some of them and what they are doing as well as the new organizations that have sprung out of the war?

I realize that the article I mention was not made up for your paper alone. It is the paper we read in our home, therefore I use it to bring to people inside that there are many nurses working for our country at the present time. These girls have a certain feeling of duty and service that goes with their uniform, that they do not expect a lot of publicity for their good work.

Yet don't you think we no the home front should let them know we appreciate the work they are doing and give to them just a little moral support and a word in appreciation occasionally?

Sincerely
A nurse not in active service but interested in ones who are in active service.

There were approximately 30 per cent less persons receiving training in the War Production Training Program in August, 1943, than in August, 1942, according to a report made public today by Dr. Francis B. Haas, superintendent of public instruction.

HELP SAVE A LIFE!

Hundreds of American fighting men today are alive because they were given blood plasma after being seriously wounded in action.

Will you give some of your blood so that others can be saved? If so won't you register at the earliest possible moment for the Red Cross Blood Bank that will be set up at the municipal building October 18 and 19, the schedule for which is being made up at the present time?

Elsewhere in this issue appears an urgent appeal from the committee in charge of arrangements for the visit of the unit.

Uncle Sam is asking for thousands of units of human blood monthly to be used in transfusion to save lives of soldiers and sailors.

Following is a series of questions and answers regarding blood donations.

1. How is the blood obtained? The donor lies down on a cot, the arm at the elbow is cleansed with iodine and alcohol and a drop of novocaine is injected to prevent any pain. The doctor introduces a hollow needle into the vein and through the small tube attached the blood flows into a bottle. At the end of the donation, a sterile dressing is applied and the donor rests for ten minutes.

2. How long does it take? About 45 minutes.

3. How much blood is taken? One pint.

4. How do I prepare for it? Live as usual but do not eat fatty food, such as cream, butter or other fats for 3 hours previously.

5. Is this safe? Yes. The donor is safeguarded. The blood is drawn under the direction of competent physicians. Thousands of donors have given their blood without harm.

6. What happens after the blood is drawn? The donor is given nourishment by the Red Cross Canteen Service, rests for a few minutes, and can then resume his usual activities.

7. What is done with the blood? It is sent to a laboratory where it is processed into dried plasma, made ready for use as transfusion and delivered to the Army and Navy for distribution.

8. Is this method new? Yes. It is a great medical advance, and has never been used anywhere before on so large a scale.

9. Is it as good as the usual blood transfusion? Yes. It is better in many cases. No bloodtyping is necessary; the plasma keeps for years and can be administered almost immediately.

10. How often can blood donations be made? Every two months. The blood is fully replaced in less time and 6, 8, and 10 donations have been given without harm by numerous people.

11. People from 18 to 21 must have written consent of father. If the father is not living, the mother. If the mother is not living, the guardian. Married women under 21 must have not only the consent of their fathers, but the consent of their husbands.

MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER

The man who came to dinner is moving away. He is, as almost everybody knows, Harry Hopkins, a former New York social worker. Mr. Hopkins dropped in at the big white house at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. one week-end in May, 1940. His host, an old acquaintance named Roosevelt, is supposed to have remarked in that casual way one has with weekend guests who always theretofore have departed with normal promptitude: "Come on, Harry, send for another suitcase and stay on."

Harry did. Week after month he lingered. He courted from his temporary abode, was married there, and his wife moved in. Three years passed, and four months, and five days. Then, at last, it became known that Harry had hired a home of his own in Georgetown and was going to move out.

Well, so long Harry. Come again. It's really our house, you know. We keep it in repair and pay for its upkeep. We let your host live there so he will be near his work. We enjoyed having you with us. Do come again, when we have another war.

Taking their own medicine—and liking it—are all employees of the local Prudential and Metropolitan Insurance Companies. Both these organizations have reported that they are now 100% under the Payroll Deduction Plan, everyone chipping in regularly to buy the Bonds Uncle Sam needs to carry on to victory. With every employee in their own organizations now signed up to invest regularly in war bonds, each Prudential and Metropolitan representative knows whereof he speaks when he carries the message of the Payroll Deduction Plan into other firms and places of employment.

Three Men On a Warhorse

Washington In Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — To anyone who has followed the political history of the United States, the way in which both parties are lining up for a vigorous post-war world policy to preserve the peace must be the most heartening phenomenon to come out of this war.

When Secretary of State Hull took the air recently to declare for a post-war alliance of all nations, "with a readiness to use force, if necessary, for the maintenance of peace," it became apparent that this nation's political leaders are fully as united for winning the peace as they are for winning the war.

Nobody here doubts that Mr. Hull was speaking for the administration. No such important address would have been made without sending it over for the President to scan and initial "Okay, F. D. R."

It is interesting chiefly because it came on the heels of Mackinac conference of the Republican council of 49, where G. O. P. leaders also put themselves on record for this nation's participation in a world alliance to maintain peace.

It is true that the council wrote into the resolution a reservation for the use of other sanctions than force, if possible, but that shouldn't be taken too seriously. It came out of a star chamber session where conservatives definitely had the whip hand. After all, it isn't the 1944 Republican party platform and it's a fair guess that when that plank is laid down the followers of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Wendell L. Willkie, who have been outspoken in favoring an international police force, will have something to say about it.

Regardless of that reservation, it's apparent now that both parties are solidly behind post-war foreign policy in which the United States would take its proper place:

- (1) In a world league of nations.
- (2) In a world court.

Since, according to the public opinion polls and the last election returns, it may be assumed that Dewey and Willkie are speaking for millions of Republicans who think as they do, the third point on which the party leaders are virtually united may be added—namely, an international police force to see that peace is maintained.

When the time comes, there's going to be plenty of dispute over details. Make no mistake about that. Even today, leaders of both parties get their dander up when you mention such things as "League of Nations," international police forces, etc., but it's the terminology, not the principles, that they object to. The "League of Nations" as we know it, has been discredited and "police force" has an ugly sound in any language. There certainly will be new terms for a new world alliance, but some sort of a world alliance there will be and for the first time in the history of these United States, our political leaders are virtually unanimous in the belief that we should become a part of it.

That certainly settles one point for the boys in the fox holes who are asking "What are we fighting for?" and oddly enough, almost all party leaders I have talked to are agreed that it was the persistent clamor for an answer to that question which has brought about this unity.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Paul Lukas, the actor, and Michael Curtiz, the director and perpetrator of picturesque English phrases, once worked together as actors in the same theater in Vienna. They worked, by all reports, amicably and with never a suggestion of a feud. Today, years later, they are moving toward a first-class mutual chilliness, through courtesy of a couple of fun-loving kids you know as Humphrey Bogart and Peter Lorre.

Lukas and Curtiz are on the same lot but different pictures. Lukas is with Errol Flynn in "Uncertain Glory" and Curtiz is putting Bogart and Lorre, among others, through the jungle hazards of "Passage to Marseille."

At lunch one day Lorre and Bogart learned from Lukas of the old association, and brought back to Curtiz a few of Lukas's reminiscences. This awoke memories in Mike, and the fun-loving messenger boys hastened back to Lukas, emphasizing in their report a couple of Curtiz items about Lukas which were not as flattering as others. Lukas supplied a slightly barbed item or two on Mike, such as the incident when Mike forgot his lines and was shoed off the stage.

Dully relayed, this led Mike to recall an occasion or two when the great Lukas was not so hot, which afforded Messrs. B. and L. another gleeful visit to the Lukas set.

THIS is still going on, with Bogart and Lorre as willing go-betweens. "It started in fun," says Bogart with sardonic pride in their social handiwork, "but now it's beginning to get a little bitter. Heh!"

Mike is still turning in his quota of Curtizisms, or contributions to expressive speech. When Bogart coughed in the midst of a rehearsal, he said, "I'm awfully sorry, Mike."

To which Mike generously replied, "That's all right, Bogey. Don't let it worry me."

THE Flynn and Bogart films, incidentally, may prove to be new examples of the Warner luck which brought "Casablanca" to completion at the time of the Roosevelt-Churchill conference in that ancient city. While many an other projected war film was put on the doubtful list by swift-breaking developments in the Mediterranean theater, these two pictures received added impetus for the reason that both deal with France, a country which after the fall of Italy was logically expected to spring importantly into the news.

The Flynn picture is something of a departure for the swash-buckling star because of the nature of his role. He plays a petty criminal about to be guillotined when an Allied bombing gives him respite. He remains a petty criminal, unregenerate, through most of the footage until the final few minutes, just long enough to die and, incidentally, save the movie code of morals.

"Land Cruiser" Drops Anchor In Warren to Enlist Recruits

Dorothea Travis
Spe 3/c USNR

Navy Recruiting Station, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The Navy Department's "Land Cruiser," bringing the Recruiting Station to the recruit, "dropped anchor" today in Warren at Second avenue. Chief Petty Officer Frank J. Andrews, in charge of the "Cruiser," announced he and his crew would be in Warren for three days for the purpose of interviewing applicants for the WAVES and SEABEES as well as general service. Travelling with the "Cruiser" in addition to Chief Andrews are Quartermaster George A. Heaton, Chief Petty Officer G. William Ambrose who acts as advance or contact man and two WAVES specially assigned to this duty by the Navy Department. Operating hours are from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m.

During the "Cruiser's" stay in Warren, men and women of this district will have the opportunity to secure all the information they wish about the Navy, including the Seabees or Construction Battalion and the WAVES. The "Cruiser" carries a full cargo of Navy literature which is available free of charge to all who ask.

Chief Andrews emphasized the Navy's immediate need for men with experience in construction trades for duty with the SEABEES. Men 21 to 50½ years of age are eligible for enlistment in this branch of naval service, providing they are not engaged in vital war work. Of this group, men up to 38 can enlist through voluntary induction, a plan which will be explained to all who apply at the "Cruiser." Men over 38 and up to 50½ can enlist through voluntary application.

Chief Andrews also pointed out that the Navy's enlistments are still open to young men of 17 who are physically fit and who have their parents' or guardian's consent to enlist.

Another feature of the "Cruiser's" visit is the search for men over 38 years of age who have had previous experience in police work. The Navy Department has recently authorized the enlistment of certain men in this age-group for duty as shore patrolmen, the Navy's police department.

The two WAVES assigned to the "Cruiser," Specialists Dorothea L. Travis and Margaret M. Strandberg, are on "board" for the purpose of interviewing district ladies between 20 and 36 who

While the "Cruiser" will be in Warren only 3 days, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, September 27, 28 and 29, the visit of this traveling recruiting station should not be overlooked as it does away with the necessity of undue travel on the applicant's part, a factor of great importance in view of the present restrictions on gas and tires.

PAPER RAISES PRICES

The Cameron County Press-Independent will be ten cents per copy or $3.00 per year by subscription. You have exactly one week to subscribe under the old rate of $2.00 per year. We realize that we will not sell as many copies per week and that our circulation will fall off a bit. At least we hope so. We must get down to four hundred less papers each week or one of these days we will have to go into four pages or suspend entirely. That's the way it looks to us. We do not want to charge ten cents per copy any more than you will give three cents because of it. If it doesn't work out at ten cents, we'll drop to five cents and four pages. We'll try anything to stay in existence.

Bond Drive in County Spurts Over the Weekend But Goal Is Far From Being Reached

Responding to the alarm sounded last week that Warren county was falling behind the second war loan in number of subscribers, volunteer workers redoubled their efforts to carry the message to every person in the county.

Many patriotic citizens, not willing to be called upon, went to banks and post office and bought their share in victory with war bonds. Others who had made pledges but failed to redeem them came, cash in hand, to get their bonds at the banks or post offices they had designated on their pledge.

The result? Things look considerably brighter on the Warren County home front for a complete third war loan victory. Through Friday the number of subscribers jumped from a figure of 2719 reported earlier in the week, to a weekend total of 4365.

This compares with 4438 subscribers at a comparable time in the second war loan. In dollars the picture likewise looked increasingly good. The total raised through Friday was $2,893,715.75, leaving only $328,384.25 of the $3,222,100 quota to be met.

However, Warren county isn't going to be satisfied by merely squeaking over the goal—in typical Warren county fashion, it's going to keep right on until the drive ends turning more dollars into bonds, and hence into guns, shells, planes, and the thousand and one other things our fighting sons need to achieve victory.

Just as those deeds our boys are performing with magnificent courage beyond the line of duty, so Warren county will go beyond their goal in this third war loan drive to match in some small measure that extra bravery showed at Tunis, in Sicily, at Salerno.

There's only one goal and that's complete victory, and its cost isn't measured in money alone, but in lives. The more bonds we buy now—and continue to buy regularly—the more of Warren County's 3,500 fighting men will be in the final victory parade.

Volunteer workers are reminded that tomorrow—September 28—is the date set for the third report. All are urged to get their reports in to leaders early so they can be tabulated and turned in to headquarters promptly.

Boys Enjoy Leave After Naval Course

Dispatches received today from the U. S. naval training station at Sampson, N. Y., indicate that another group of Warren county lads have completed basic training there and are home on leave with their families before reporting back to Sampson for further assignments. In the group are the following:

Warren—John Niedzialek, 708 Pennsylvania avenue, west; Wendell M. Hamlin, 13 Myrtle street; Ellsworth Lyle, Jr., 316 Park avenue; Joe Robert Colosimo, 1201 Pennsylvania avenue, west; James Joseph Ecalise, 9 Melvina street; John J. Imperial, 503 Public Way; William J. Peterson, 718 West Fifth avenue; Robert J. Wagner, 38 Hemlock street.
Clarendon—Howard W. Campbell, RD 1.
Kinzua—Lester Morton Holt.

In answer to a query received the other day, we had occasion to resurrect facts concerning the abandonment of trolley service in and about Warren, and here's what we learned: The Sheffield line was abandoned March 31, 1928; the Warren-Jamestown line December 2, 1929; the city and North Warren lines October 18, 1930.

Miss Elizabeth Bittle, of Youngsville, and Harold Mallory, of Lottsville, were chosen as delegates to the convention at Harrisburg, with Mrs. Evelyn Gaylor, of Sheffield, and Orval Borton, of Youngsville, as alternates.

This meeting was held in conjunction with the annual teachers' institute of Warren and Forest counties and at the Friday afternoon session, W. J. Summerville, Warren county's assistant superintendent, again presented Dr. Douglas G. Haring, who spoke on "Look Westward, America."

In this address he urged that teachers add to those subjects already being taught the history, culture and languages of Asia, since, he said, "Pearl Harbor could not have happened if a few more Americans could have read Japanese. For years the Japanese have written about not 'if' they have war with America but 'when' they have war with America." We have to live in the same world with these people. If we are to keep peace, we must understand their culture and their language."

Before the second address in the afternoon, County Superintendent H. L. Blair spoke for Mrs. H. W. Conarro, of the salvage committee, acknowledged the importance of the work of teachers in previous scrap drives and urging that preparations be made for collection of tin cans, which trucks will collect on October 6, 7 and 8.

Teachers in the rural districts were asked to tell farm women that there will not be a soap shortage and that fats used in making soap at home are needed for gunpowder production.

Dr. Van Houton, of State College, then emphasized the importance of the teacher in war time, regretting that the work is not better recognized. He contrasted the money expenditure of the students who are preparing to teach to the situation of the nurse cadets who are attending classes with them. He ended by congratulating the teachers on their service, calling it a most worth while war work.

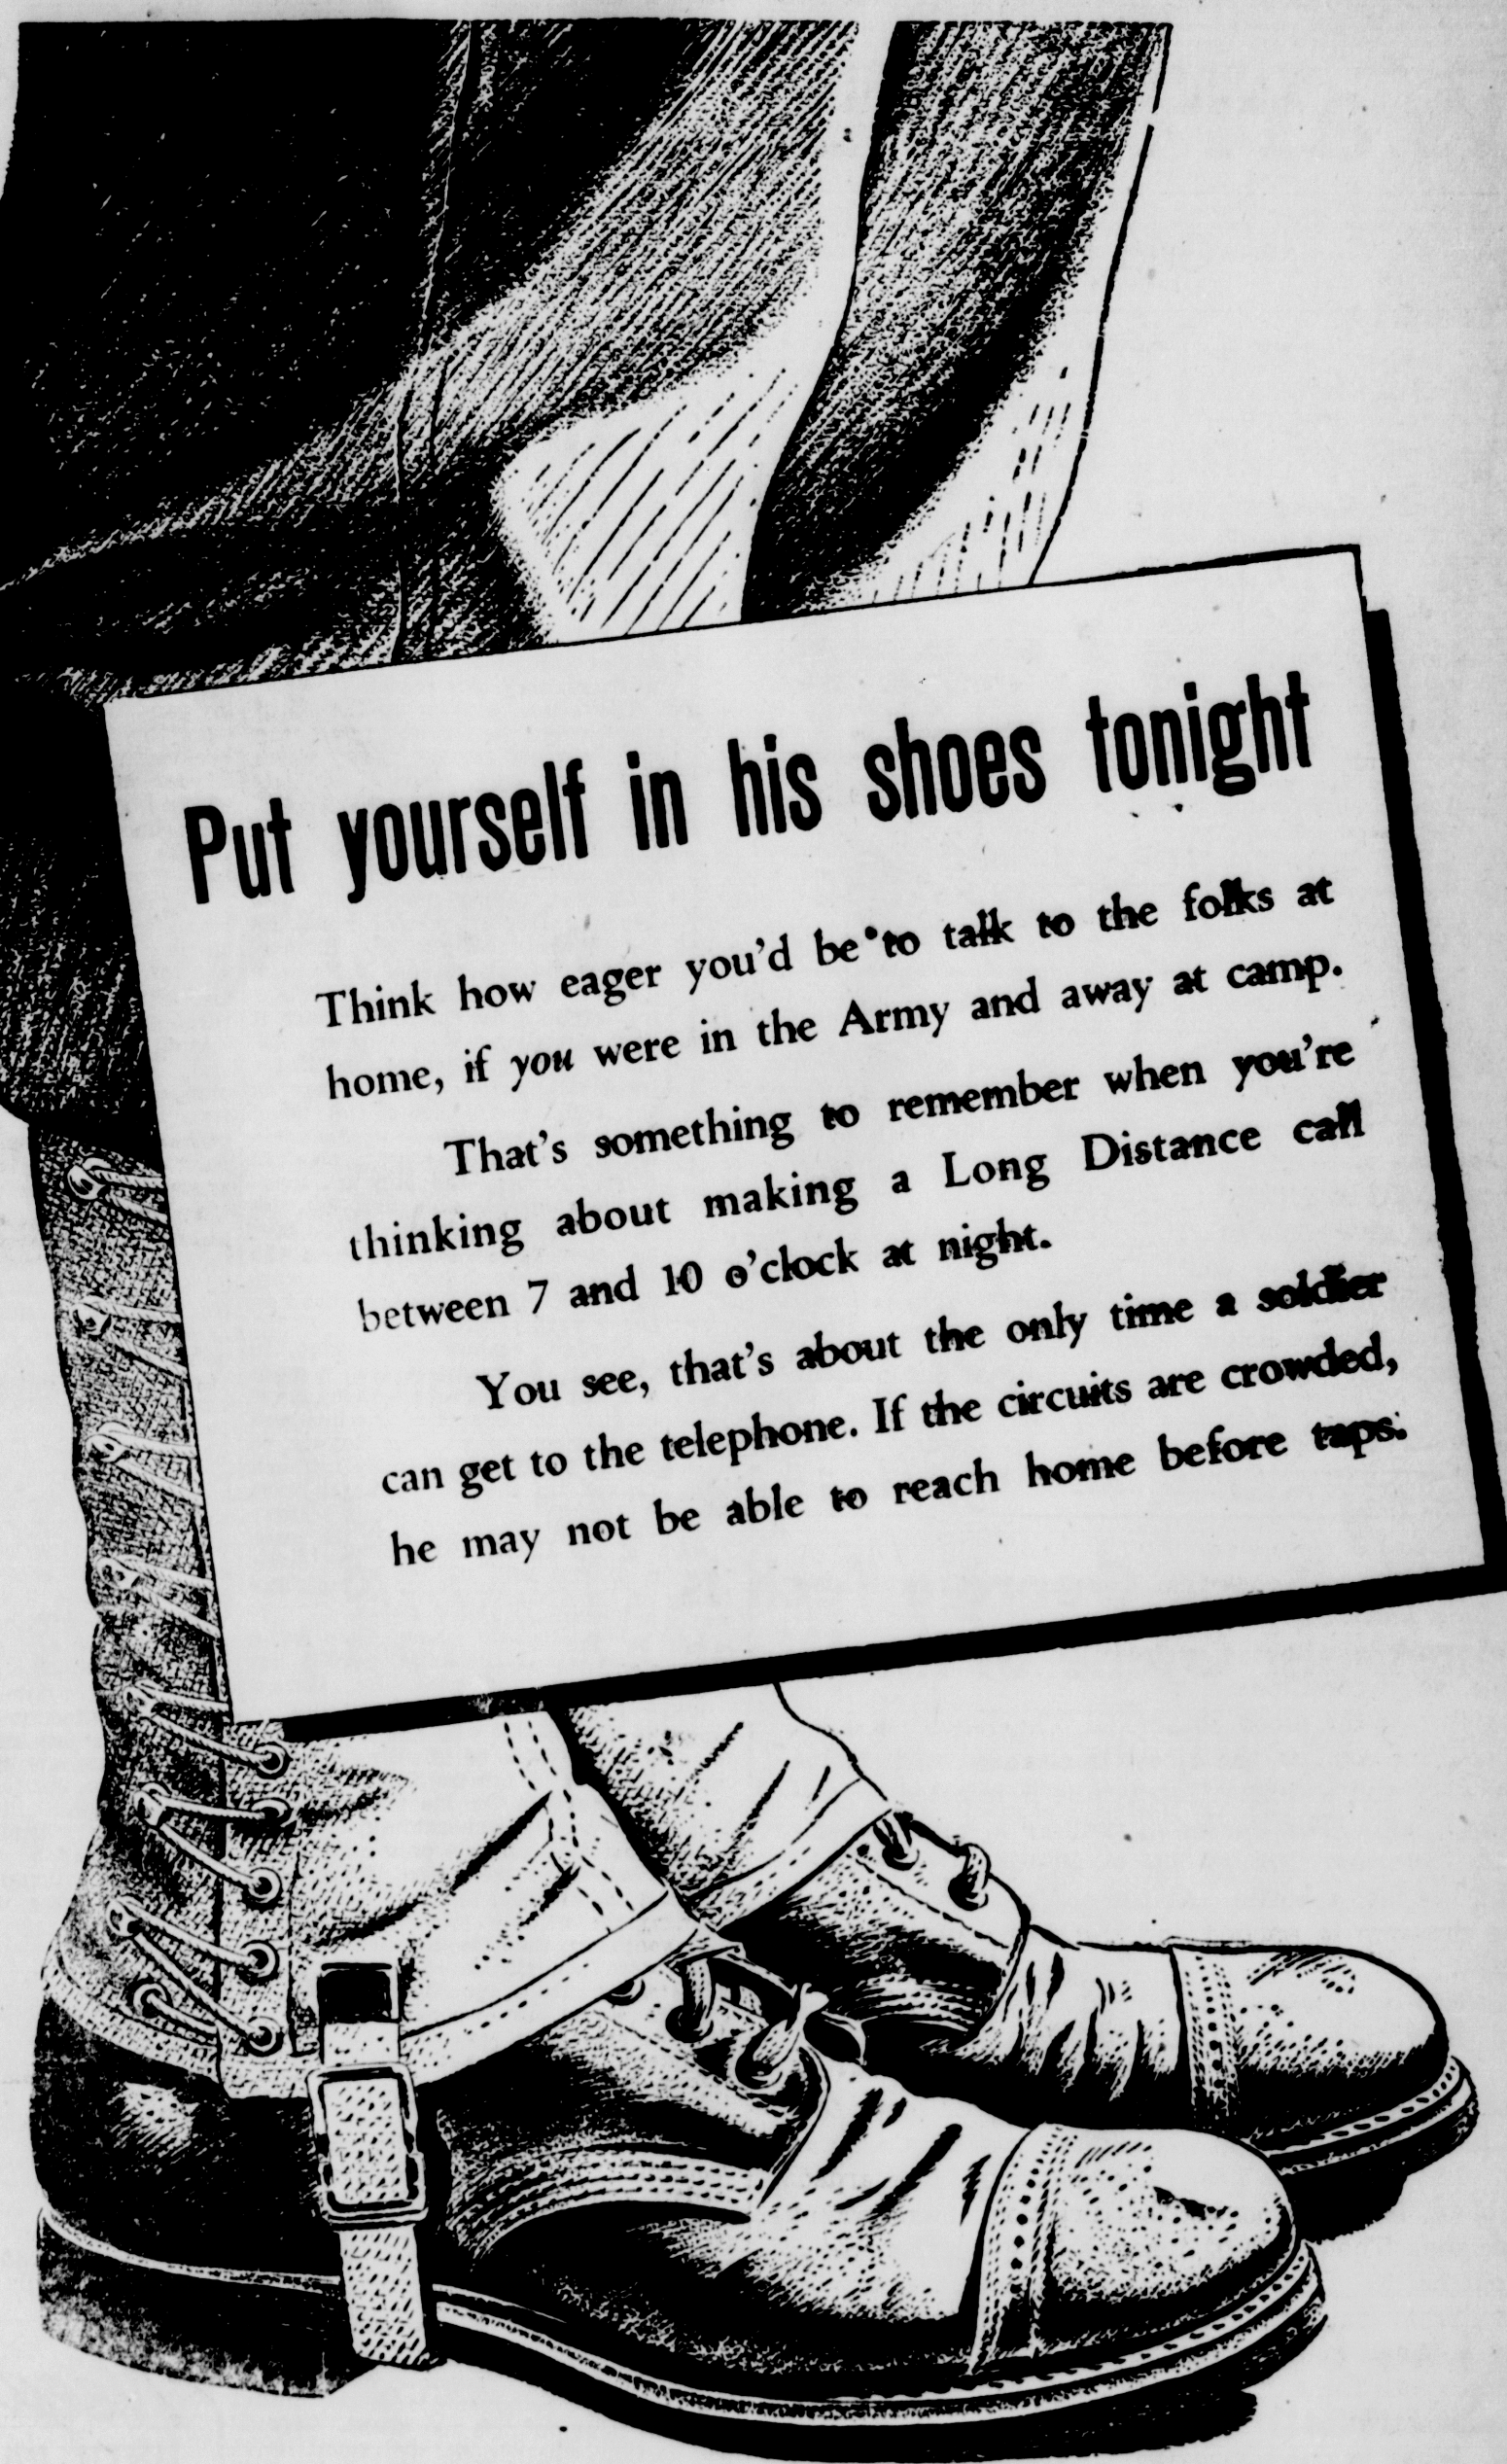

Dr. Walter L. Bailey had chosen for his second subject "New Frontiers for Freedom," saying that "we need somehow to reclaim the inspiration and spirit of liberty in 1920, the spirit of democracy in 1870, the spirit of brotherhood in 1861, and the spirit of humanity in 1917."

The high school ensemble, under the direction of Harry Summers, delighted with a short concert at the beginning of the evening session. Before introducing the speaker, Superintendent John G. Rossman explicated the purpose of the Warren County United War Fund and urged everyone's support of it.

He then presented Dr. Harry S. Ganders, dean of the school of education at Syracuse University, who began his address on "The Spirit of Democracy" by saying: "I am proudest of being a teacher."

Stating that we have perverted the idea of democracy our forefathers held, he said that teachers must see that democracy is understood, that it means care in the selection of leaders. We must impress on students the obligation to be informed. We must teach them to use their minds."

Pedestrian fatalities were 15 percent lower in 1942 than in the year previous.

Put yourself in his shoes tonight

Think how eager you'd be to talk to the folks at home, if you were in the Army and away at camp.

That's something to remember when you're thinking about making a Long Distance call between 7 and 10 o'clock at night.

You see, that's about the only time a soldier can get to the telephone. If the circuits are crowded, he may not be able to reach home before taps.

In the Wake of MURDER

Chapter 8

FAR ahead were the lights of Emerson and, a little nearer, red eyes twinkled wickedly in the night. Must be going to Emerson, Brad thought, wondering if he could keep the other car in sight once they entered the city.

He glanced at Jane, who was huddled miserably in her corner. Poor kid, seeing Ed Black had given her a nasty turn. He almost wished they hadn't followed the blonde's car. It was like rubbing salt into an open wound.

Brad stepped harder on the accelerator. They were in the police station. Sure enough, just as the revolving door closed behind them, a long black sedan cruised down the street. Jane recognized the car as the one Ed Black had ridden to Emerson in, but only one person, a man was in it now. She was sure that it was not Uncle Ed.

"Hi!" The police chief was watching them from the night captain's desk. "Something up?"

Brad explained while the night captain got a chair for Jane. Thompson frowned, but all he said was "Humph."

"Anything new?" Brad asked finally.

"No. Not a darn thing. That night watchman was asleep. He didn't see a soul after Miss Carter left. As for prints, the office is as slick as a ribbon."

Jane thought it looked far from slick the last time I saw it. Then: "May I have my key back, Mr. Thompson? I really should go there in the morning. Some of Mr. Billingsley's cases are slated for court in a few days. I'll have to get someone to take care of them."

Thompson nodded to the night man, who went after the key. "Yes," he said, "I suppose so."

NINE o'clock found Jane at her desk. The suite of offices had been put to rights, probably by Cyrus or the janitor. Or perhaps Jim Thompson had ordered it. Anyhow had removed very little of the horror. That, Jane felt, would linger always. She forced herself to go to the files in Billingsley's private office and remove the case envelopes. Then she began her telephoning.

No, Lee Andrews had no spare time. He couldn't handle the Moore divorce case, scheduled for court the next day. There was a call from the plaintiff, frantically demanding to know if there would be a postponement. "I think not," Jane assured her. "Call me in an hour."

By noon things had been whipped into a reasonably fair shape. She had convinced another lawyer that his own future would be immensely benefitted by accepting these cases now.

I'm out of a job, she thought. But that didn't make any difference either. She never had worried and had no intention of starting now. Maybe she'd go away somewhere. Get into defense work or something.

A quick sandwich and a chocolate malted at the corner drugstore and Jane was back in the office. Amazing how much there was to be done, especially when she found her mind wandering to other things.

That car last night, for instance. Seeing Uncle Ed with that woman—poor Aunt Ella. How could he—And Chester Billingsley. Would his murderer be someone she knew or just Frithy Axis spy?

Had the police overlooked something? She found herself putting around, searching for clues that might have been missed.

SHE was combing the files when someone entered. Thinking it was Sam Alton, the attorney who was asking over the more pressing business, she hurried into the outer office.

"Mrs. Billingsley," she almost gasped. "Oh, my dear."

Evelyn Billingsley closed the door behind her. She collapsed in Jane's chair.

"Jane," she said, "I just had to see you."

Jane patted her thin fingers. There was a feverish look in the older woman's eyes.

"Can I get you a drink of water?"

Mrs. Billingsley shook her head. "No," she said. "I want to talk to you, Jane, someone tried to break into my husband's study last night."

"Oh! The ejaculation burst past Jane's lips. "Do you know who?"

Again Mrs. Billingsley shook her head.

"No. But our dog ran her off."

"Her?" A warning tinkled in Jane's mind.

"Yes," Evelyn Billingsley said. "A woman. I found this in the yard. The dog must have torn her clothes."

She handed Jane a piece of blue silk, the piece of a woman's dress

ARE ADDING WOMAN
The latest Warren plant to add women to the payroll is the National Forge and Ordnance Plant at Irvine. The demands of the army for men is causing trouble to be made on the manpower of the Irvine plant and many men are being taken for the U. S. services. Already about a score of women are at work and others will be added from time to time. Arrangements have been made at the plant for the comfort of women employees and it is expected that fifty or more will be at work within a few weeks. Other plants in the vicinity are also adding women and there is plenty of opportunity for female labor to find a place in Warren. Enrollments are being made at the Federal Employment office at the present time.

SATURDAY LAST DAY
Edwin Lindmark, registration commissioner, said today that voters who must file a change of address or who must register have until October 2nd, to do so to be eligible to vote in November. The change of address cards mailed out some time ago must be returned by that time.

Warren Suffers Major Defeat At Titusville Saturday

Grid Gosh!

Rockets Surprise Grid Followers By Routing Blue And White 12 to 7

BY BOB JOHNSON

Titusville, one of the most frequently massacred gridiron outfits in the district, turned over the leaf last Saturday and defeated the Warren Dragons 12 to 7, in one of the oddest games to niche up for history this season.

The locals, scoring on the ninth play after the kickoff, had the early part of the tilt pretty much their own way, ripping off long gains at will through the Rocket line, but suddenly bogged down and didn't show much but their heels until just before the finish.

Carlson, taking the kickoff, was downed after a 5 yard runback on the Warren High 28. Snyder, Dragon fullback gained 3 through the left guard and Carlson, playing left half for the locals made it down on the Warren 38. Then, Vesling, fleet wingback for the locals, picked up four more by the right guard route and using their last piece of backfield manpower on the next play in Gusto Arrigo, the locals offered flawless interference and he sliced through the left side of the line, cut over to the right side of the stripe and raced deep into the enemy territory, fixing a beachhead on the 9 yard stripe.

Snyder, Vesling and Arrigo, in flanking movements erased 6 more of those yards on three more plays through the center of the line and then depended on Jim Snyder to finish it off, and the hefty tailback racked up the first counter with a terrific smash through center and went down just over the goal. Vesling hit the line for the extra point and it had been to look like the usual Titusville game.

The Rockets came close to a score late in the initial period, but an intercepted pass by Gerald Vesling ended their threat on the 18 yard stripe and the locals took over to work out to the 25 before the end of the stanza.

Right on the start of the 2nd period, Jackson, left half for Rockets took Vesling's punt on a short runback to their own 39 and with ironman duty, in two plays wound up with only two yards to the local 41, then took over once more with a brilliant run of 40 yards deep into Dragon land and was knocked out of bounds on the local 20 yard stripe.

Slark, right half for the Titusville clan, drew the stands into an uproar on the next play as his supporting line feinted the locals out of position to the right and he stepped through a gap in the left tackle post and went over the pay stripe standing up, making the score 7 to 6, when Conway's placekick try was wide of the posts.

Holding on to their slim lead all the rest of the half and at the same time, coming back with a powerhouse drive twice in quick succession, the Dragons looked good to run up the count and chalk up the Titusville tally to the demons of luck.

FIGHTING IRISH MAY PLAY PITT NEXT YEAR

Pittsburgh, Sept. 27.—(P)—Athletic Director James Hagan today virtually assured Pitt's football fans they would see more of Notre Dame's fighting Irish—but not until 1944, happily.

The Irish, running roughshod over the Panthers in Clark Shaughnessy's debut as Pitt coach Saturday, will likely return to Pittsburgh in 1944, Hagan said, adding:

"We are both anxious to continue our series. I didn't confer with Coach Frank Leahy concerning the matter but I know he is to play here where Notre Dame has so many friends."

Notre Dame-Georgia Tech Is Highlight Game of the Week

New York, Sept. 27.—(P)—Not only will Saturday's two big football games—Notre Dame vs. Georgia Tech and Michigan vs. Northwestern—include four of the country's best teams, but the turf at South Bend and Evanston will be torn up by some of the outstanding players of the young season.

Notre Dame has its Angelo Bertelli and Julius Rykovic in the backfield and Captain Pat Filley. The Atlanta engineers counter with Eddie Prokop, George Manning and George Stecher.

Northwestern's offense is geared to Otto Graham, Elroy (Crazy Legs) Hirsch of Wisconsin and Bill Daley of Minnesota, are two of the Michigan ball carriers and the line is a combination of the Wolverine and Badger walls of 1942.

All four of the clubs won last

Saturday, three of them spectacularly and Northwestern halting a weak Indiana eleven, 14 to 6. Michigan saw its all-star outfit romp to a 57 to 6 verdict over Western Michigan and Notre Dame made Pitt Coach Clark Shaughnessy sorry he revived the T-formation, 41 to 0. Georgia Tech, a pre-game underdog, mastered North Carolina 20-7.

Army unties Glenn Davis in its second home game for the benefit of Colgate and Mike Micka, a combination that spilled Rochester Saturday, 7 to 0. The Cadets tamed the Villanova Wildcats, 27 to 9, in their debut. Columbia opens its campaign against Princeton, a 47 to 9 cropper to a surprising Penn squad Saturday. The Quakers next entertain Yale.

Navy blanked North Carolina Pre-Flight, 31 to 0, and next tackles a Cornell team that was good enough to conquer Sampson, N. Y., Naval, 27 to 13.

A Duke team that romped over Richmond, 61 to 0, last weekend entertains the Pre-Flighters this Saturday. North Carolina's huge squad is preparing for Penn State (Turn to Page Eight)

Keep this in mind

In the face of increasing demands for gas fuel in war plants, Uncle Sam is doing his best to help us keep you supplied with the gas you need for essential heating, cooking, water heating and refrigeration. That is why we are asking you to cooperate by using gas wisely and avoiding waste.

When you save gas you help keep war plants humming.

HERE IS HOW YOU CAN HELP

- 1 Cook whole meals in oven. Cook "one-dish" meals on top burners.
- 2 Don't use running hot water for washing dishes, hands or shaving. Repair leaky faucets. Heat no more water than necessary.
- 3 Never leave refrigerator door open. Cool cooked foods before placing in refrigerator.
- 4 Now is the time to have your heating system inspected. Don't wait for cold weather.
- 5 Winterize your home now by insulating and weatherstripping. It not only keeps your home warmer in winter but cooler in summer.

What would have been a breather in any other year shapes up as one of the southwest's best games Saturday with Texas, shorn of many of its own stars, but aided by naval trainees, host to undefeated Southwestern University, which inherited the Longhorns of 1942.

Louisiana State, which defeated Georgia, 34 to 27, turns Steve Van Buren loose against Rice.

The Midwest presents a 1943 rarity, an all-civilian duel, at Iowa City, with the Hawkeyes, losers by 21 to 7 at Great Lakes, playing Wisconsin, defeated 10 to 7.
